

@anza

Welcome to our first edition of @anza for 2009!

It's hard to believe that Christmas has come and gone, and we are already in February! All the staff at ANZA hopes your holidays were relaxing.

Telstra's strong investment in world-leading networks and products has cemented its number one ranking on overall broadband performance, according to new independent research results released on the 21st January 2009.

Telstra retained its number one ranking in the Epihiro Research Report, which measures performance across a range of indicators including Internet speed, email, browsing, connection and gaming.
